Harald Matthes, MD is a gastroenterolgist and clinical director at Hospital Havelhöhe, Clinic for Anthroposophic Medicine in Berlin and holder of the chair in ,Anthroposophic and Integrative Medicine at the Charité, Berlin. His clinical expertise includs interventional endoscopy, gastrointestinal integrative oncology, anthroposophic mistletoe therapy and anthroposophic treatment of inflammatory bowel disease and irritable bowel disease. His research expertise covers health care research, in the field of safety assessment, efficacy and efficiency of medicines in conventional and complementary medicine paying particular considerations to an electronic anthroposophic physician's network (EvaMed).